Water samples

Which bottle has the clean water, and which one has the iron-fouled brew? Chairman George Allan of the Board of Water and Sewer Commissioners had samples for a demonstration of the iron problem, when he made his presentation to the Special Town Meeting Monday night.

Town Meeting approves $600,000 appropriation for water treatment plant

Wilmington residents quickly gave their nod of approval to the Board of Water and Sewer Commissioners at Monday night's Special Town Meeting and voted 161-1 to appropriate an additional $600,000 for the completion of the town's planned water treatment plant. The appropriation is in addition to $2.75 voted for the plant at the 1978 annual Town Meeting.

The lone dissenting vote came from retired union carpenter Wilson Belbin who made an impassioned speech in favor of awarding the eventual contract to a union contractor, and not the low bidder, an open-shop contractor.

However, as Town Moderator John Callan pointed out, the Town Meeting's function was merely to appropriate money and not to award bids.

According to Water Commissioner George Allan, additional funds for the treatment plant were necessitated by two factors: a 20-22 per cent increase in construction costs and the redesign of the plant to provide for the removal of trichloroethylene (TCE), a chemical recently discovered in several of Wilmington's wells.

When bids for the project were opened several weeks ago, the lowest bidder was $452,000 over the appropriation.

No increase in the newly revised water rates would result from the additional appropriation, Allan said, because of expected state reimbursement of $1.44 million.

The Special Town Meeting had been posted for 7:30 p.m., but did not get underway until 8:35, due to a lack of a quorum. Several union carpenters stood in the lobby, and refused to check in until there was a quorum, with the result that once the quorum of 150 was reached, the number of people registered then went to something over 160.

Walk-a-thon Sunday

The annual Wilmington Community Fund Walk-a-thon will be held on Sunday. The principal fund-raising event for the Community Fund, the event attracts several hundred walkers, young and old. The goal this year is $30,000.

Registration for the Walk-a-thon begins at 7:30 a.m. at the Wilmington Common. The Walk-a-thon steps off at 8:30 a.m. The route has been changed from that of last year. Walkers will proceed from the Common to Wildwood Street, to Woburn Street, to High Street, across Route 62 onto the northernmost part of Middlesex Avenue, to Salem Street, to Cunningham Street, to Beeching Avenue, to Faulkner Avenue, to Glen Road, to Middlesex Avenue and back to the Common. The route is 10 miles instead of the previous 12.

Pledge cards have been distributed to children in the Wilmington schools. Additional pledge cards are available at the Town Crier office or at Doyle's Church Street Hardware. The Walk-a-thon chairman is George Hooper.

Belbin by himself

He didn't want the vote to be unanimous, so when the vote was called, retired carpenter Wilson Belbin stood up alone and voted no. The vote in favor of the $600,000 appropriation was 161 to 1.

Selectmen discuss sewer problems

Following the Special Town Meeting on Monday night, Wilmington's Board of Selectmen held a brief meeting, after which they went into executive session to discuss certain topics with Town Counsel Alan Altman. Presumably the discussion was about the sewer, and the suit and counter suit on section three.

The contractor who constructed section three, Pacella Brothers of Plainfield, is suing the town for $506,712.37. The town has a counter suit for $1,100,000.

An engineering firm from Boston, Fay, Spoffard and Thorndike, is reported to have made a survey of the sewer last Friday and Saturday.

Verbal reports, indirectly given, say the firm found little if anything wrong with section two, but had several important findings to report on, relative to section three. The reports are that the sections of the sewer are not in alignment, and there is an excessive amount of water flowing through, even before it is put into use.

Section two, from Eames Street to Floradale Avenue, was built by Masoncraft, Inc. Section three, built by the Pacella firm, extends from Floradale Avenue to a point just north of the Route 129 railroad bridge.

The water commissioners do not expect to have a report for several weeks, and caution that any verbal report is not necessarily true.

Bank robbery

Three men in rubber Halloween masks robbed the Reading Cooperative Bank of about $5100 last Wednesday afternoon. The men entered the bank in North Wilmington about 1:30 p.m., each carrying a gun. They were described as being in their early twenties or late teens, all wearing jeans.

After the shower

After successfully finding the League of Women Voters meeting on Chestnut Street last Thursday evening, George Vaill took a seat next to Mrs. Barbara Hooper, and listened to Mrs. Maida Eisenberg (right) explain one of the programs of the League.

It was a mixed-up night on Chestnut Street

Voter apathy is a subject which concerns George Vaill. Last Thursday, this concern led him to attend a meeting of the League of Women Voters.

The LWV now admits men. Richard Cogan was the first man to join the League in Wilmington.

A resident of Wilmington for only three weeks, Vaill had read about the meeting in the paper, and became interested. The meeting was at the home of Janet McGinley on Chestnut Street. Vaill found Chestnut Street, and began looking for an appropriate house. Before long, he found a house with several cars outside, and people inside. He went inside.

In the basement of the house, there were several men playing ping pong and drinking beer. George played a couple of games of ping pong, and drank some beer. But this wasn't the meeting that he had set out to attend, so he went upstairs. There was a room full of women, but somehow George sense that he was not at a meeting of the League of Women Voters. There were all sorts of presents, and nobody was talking politics.

It wasn't long at all before George discovered that he was at a baby shower, from which he made a hasty exit. He then proceeded along Chestnut to the McGinley home, where he joined the League meeting, a bit late.

Meanwhile, a woman looking for the baby shower had been at the League of Women Voters meeting. One of the women present was pregnant, so she at first thought that she had the correct house. But nobody else had any gifts, and the women were all discussing League of Women Voters business.

George Nuttall participates in amphibious exercises

Marine Corporal George Nuttall, III, son of Elizabeth and George E. Nuttall Jr. of 7 Wicks Circle, Wilmington is currently serving in the Mediterranean Sea, with the US Sixth Fleet. Nuttall is a member of Battalion Landing Team One Slant Eight (18).

The team recently participated in a week long amphibious landing exercise at Strimonikos, Greece. The training included beach and helicopter assaults. The purpose of the exercise was to reinforce a U.S. facility, facing an attack by a hypothetical revolutionary force.

After the landing the Marines had opportunities to visit ports in Greece, Italy and Spain. Nuttall is a graduate of Malden High School and joined the Marines in June, 1976.

Central Catholic seeks athletic site

The Board of Trustees of Central Catholic High School has announced its decision to search for a place to erect a new athletic facility. Thomas Caffrey, a Lawrence attorney, has been named chairman of the search committee.

The school is looking for 14 to 20 acres of property, hopefully close to the school. Plans are to develop two football fields, two baseball fields, a soccer field and a tennis court. A club house and adequate parking facilities will also be part of the new facility.

Attorney Caffrey has asked any person interested in furnishing a site to contact him.

Wilmington couple celebrates 65th

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Baldwin of 7 Jones Avenue Wilmington observed their 65th wedding anniversary with an impressive and beautiful Mass of Thanksgiving at St. Dorothy's Church on Saturday, Sept. 22 celebrated by their Pastor, Fr. Kevin McAndrews.

The honored couple were preceded down the aisle to the Sanctuary, by their children, Miss Dorothy Baldwin, Mrs. Paul (Ruth) Lynch, Mrs. Louis (Frances) Nolan all of Wilmington and Mrs. Leo (Marie) O'Connell of Lexington and their best man Joseph Joyce of Everett and their maid of honor Mrs. Samuel Puleo, (sister of Mrs. Baldwin) of Revere.

After the readings of the Mass by two of their 18 grandchildren, Keith Baldwin and David O'Connell, the couple renewed their marriage vows surrounded by their children holding lighted candles. Six of their 15 great-grandchildren, Lee Ellen Nolan, Shelley O'Connell, Dawn Marie Nolan, Danny O'Connell, Jr., Robert Voner and Kevin Scott presented the gifts for consecration. They were led to the altar by Dorothy and Charles Baldwin who placed lighted Vigil candles and red roses at the altars of the Sacred Heart and the Blessed Mother. The "Ave Maria" and other appropriate hymns were sung by soloist James O'Keefe who was accompanied on the organ by William Nolla. "Mother at Thy Feet Kneeling" was rendered at the Communion of the Mass which was shared by their family and many of those in attendance.

After the final blessings Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin were honored at a dinner given by their children at the Branding Iron Steak House in Tewksbury, where the guest book was in charge of one of their granddaughters, Marlene Lynch. Attending the dinner besides their children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren were the brothers and sisters of the honored couple as well as all their nieces and nephews. The family served a buffet to the many guests, later in the evening, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lynch.

Mr. Baldwin was general foreman at the Eastern Gas and Fuel Associates of Everett for 49 years prior to his retirement many years ago.

After their anniversary Mass, Gertrude and Charles Baldwin walked down the aisle of St. Dorothy's Church, accompanied by Father Kevin McAndrews.

Town Meeting October 22 in Tewksbury

There is to be a special town meeting on October 22nd starting at 8 pm. So the selectmen voted last night.

One purpose is to arrange for the lights at the corner of Chandler Street and Main Street. The town will have to vote by eminent domain to take land from the Arco filling station.

The warrant for the special meeting will close at 8 pm next Tuesday (October 2nd).

State Rep. James Miceli was present at the meeting. He told the selectmen that the tax rate had not yet been set for this year. There was a holdup in the state house. An account in the school department, entitled "Deferred teachers' salaries" was the sole item holding up the announcement, Miceli said.

Miceli said there was to be a meeting in the State House, on Thursday, which should clarify the questions on the deferred teacher salary.

The ninety acres which the Tewksbury Hospital had offered to give to Tewksbury, for the site of a new high school, will be returned to the hospital. The selectmen voted to sign papers returning the land. Supt. John Wynn of the school department said there was no need for the land after the town meeting had refused to vote for the high school.

Also discussed was possible additions to the present dog pound, and to the Park Department building.

The addition to the dog pound would be used as an office and a supply room. The area being used at present gets wet, when the building is hosed down, as it frequently is. There was discussion of a wooden building, but the selectmen seemed to feel that a concrete addition would be more appropriate.

The addition to the Park Department building was another matter. There were conflicting views. The selectmen voted to table the matter pending further information.

Avco growing, may lease space

New contracts received in recent months at Avco Systems Division in Wilmington will result in approximately 500 new jobs at the plant, and may lead to the firm leasing additional space.

The company has been in contact with John Lucci, who owns a parcel of about nine acres, across Lowell Street from the Wilmington plant. The proposed building would be 50,000 square feet on two stories, with a value of $1.5 million. No final decisions have been made, though. Avco recently announced that it had secured a $3.4 million contract for the first phase of the development of the Air Force MX Missile, which is a $164 million contract, in its entirety. The option is expected to be exercised after Oct. 1, the start of the Federal government's fiscal year.

Other government contracts have also been awarded to Avco during the year, totaling $28 million.

Industrial development proposed in Tewksbury

The planning board learned, Monday night, of plans for an industrial development in East Tewksbury. Two major firms, the board was told, are interested in development of a 42 acre plot of land, near East Street and Shawsheen Street, and near the Boston ... Maine Railroad.

Stanley Bartlett of the firm of Coldwell Commercial Banker Trust Company of Boston told the board that these two firms were not interested in disturbing existing neighborhoods. A rezoning, however, would be necessary for a part of the land, from residential to industrial. Such a rezoning could be effected, it is believed, with proper buffer zoning for residents of the area.

One of the firms was identified as an electronics and computer company. The other was said to be a Canadian concern, interested in the construction of office buildings.

Bartlett told the Planning Board that about 800,000 square feet of building space is being planned. He estimated the cost at about $35 a square foot. The total value of the buildings would be about $25 to $30 millions.

The board welcomed the news and will consult with State Rep. James Miceli on certain points. Chairman Joseph Doherty is to make the arrangements for the meetings.

The land involved is not far from Interstate 93. It is owned in part by James DeCarolis of Tewksbury and in part by Yvon Cormier of Bedford. Tewksbury planning consultant Armand Dufresne believes the development, if it is achieved, could result in a yearly tax revenue of $2.5 millions for Tewksbury.

Muse-Winters nuptials

Bouquets of glowing white chrysanthemums adorned the altar of St. Thomas Church in Wilmington when the Rev. Father Thomas Reynolds performed the nuptial, August 25 wedding ceremony of Theresa M. Muse and James A. Winters.

The bride is the daughter of Shirley and Paul Cameron of Federal Street and the groom is the son of Mrs. James Martin of Andover and Charles Winters, also of Andover.

Given in marriage by her stepfather, the bride was radiant in a sleeveless gown of white tulle featuring an empire waistline and chapel train. Her bodies was sprinkled with appliques of silk floss Venice lace matching the trim on her elbow-length veil. Her sweeping train was also trimmed in Venice lace and she carried a bouquet of handmade flowers adorned with velvet ribbon.

Anna DeBenedictis, close friend of the bride served as maid of honor in a flowing pink gown featuring an ornate organza capelet.

Elaine Campbell, sister of the bride and Belinda Winters, the groom's sister served as bridesmaids in mint green gowns styled like that worn by the maid of honor. They wore baby's breath in their hair and carried nosegays to match their gowns.

Shawn Winters served his brother as best man while ushering duties were in charge of Richard and Robert Muse, brothers of the bride.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the Casa di Fior in Wilmington where Arlene Muse, sister-in-law of the bride circulated the guest book.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Cameron chose a full-length gown in apricot, white accessories and a corsage of peach and mint green flowers.

The mother of the groom was attired in a blue gown with matching accessories and wore a corsage of white and yellow flowers.

For traveling, the new Mrs. Winters wore an aqua dress with matching corsage and white accessories.

Following a wedding trip through the White Mountains, the couple is now living in Altamonte Springs, Florida.

The bride is a 1976 graduate of Wilmington High School and is currently employed as a receptionist at Winjum Packaging Supply Co., in Longwood, Florida.

Her husband is a 1973 graduate of Andover High School and is now employed by a printing company in Florida.

The story of Lanse Jaquith

There is a house on the corner of Clark Street and Main Street, Wilmington. It is about 140 years old. It was known, to old timers in Wilmington as the Susan Ealer home, for it was the home of a lady by that name for many years, and she had a sign out in front, announcing her real estate business.

It is also the place where $5 thousand disappeared, once, sometime before the turn of the century. Many people believed the story. The writer has talked with people who believed it and who helped to look for the money. Apparently the money was never found.

The house has old railroad ties in its foundation. The original Boston & Lowell Railroad used just stone ties. That proved too rough on the passengers, and after a few years the stone ties were taken out and wooden ties substituted. Therefore, in Wilmington, if one finds a home with stone railroad ties in the cellar - and there are more than a few, one can be certain that house was built about 1840 or later.

Back about the time of the Civil War there were people named Jaquith living in that house - and the street beside it, now Clark Street, was named Jaquith Lane. Jaquith, of course, is an old Wilmington name.

Alanson Jaquith was a blacksmith. He married Sarah Buck in 1835, so it is fair to assume that Alanson may have built that home. He had a blacksmith shop next door, where the denim clothing store is today, halfway between the house and the brook.

There were three children of that marriage, two daughters, and a son, Charles, all born in the years before the Civil War.

The late Charles V. Blaisdell of Wilmington was one of those who remembered Alanson well. As a boy he lived in the home just up the hill from Alanson's home. He could recall how men would gather in the evening at the old forge, and smoke a pipe, while listening to stories of the Civil War, and other such tales. Charles's name for Alanson was Lanse, but Charles did not know any of the circumstances of Lanse's death. Maybe his family had moved before then, for he lived for many years in Woburn.

One of the daughters was named Emeline. She married, in October 1861, a man named James H. Batcher of Wilmington. There was one daughter, also named Emeline. Both mother and daughter died in 1865.

There seems to be no other record, other than the deaths of Alanson and his wife Sarah. She died in 1875. He died in 1899, on May 10. Death was by strangulation - suicide. Lanse was 87 years old at that time.

The facts have been recited at some length because they may or may not lend credibility to the story. As related they seem to prove only that Lanse Jaquith committed suicide.

They do not prove other details, leading to the suicide. Except for Emeline, there is no daughter who was married in Wilmington. There was no granddaughter who was married in Wilmington.

The story that many believed, over half a century ago, was that Alanson had a daughter who was married. As a wedding gift Lanse gave a lot of land up on Aldrich Road. A lot of land, in those days, could well have been a farm. Aldrich Road was old Jaquith territory, reaching back to the time of King Philip's War.

Sometime after that marriage, the old story goes, Alanson was driving up on Aldrich Road, in his buggy. His son-in-law came out of the lot of land that Lanse had given to his daughter.

The son-in-law had a wagon load of wood, cut from the trees on that lot. The story goes on to say that Alanson turned around, went back to his home, got his "city" clothes on, and took the train to Boston. He went to the East Boston Bank for Savings and there drew out all the money he had in the bank - $5,000.

Then he went home and hung himself, in the blacksmith shop.

He said nothing to anyone about the money. So the story goes. Everyone who lived in that area spent a lot of time looking for that money.

The blacksmith shop was torn to pieces, literally. The plaster in the walls of Alanson's house was torn out. That seems rather unbelievable. If there was truth to the story, and if Alanson had cut a home in the wall to put the money there, it would have been covered, if covered at all, by a plaster patch, readily seen.

Anyway, the late Billy Boynton, who lived over on Canal Street, was a nephew of the lady who lived in the home, and he told the writer well over half a century ago that he was one of those who helped his aunt and his uncle by marriage, tear plaster out of that house.

He was one of several persons who told the story to the writer. The reader can take it from there.

Did Alanson Jaquith draw $5,000 from the East Boston Bank for Savings? Did he burn up that money, in the forge of his blacksmith shop? Did he hide it somewhere on the property? Or what?

Trueba favors flushing program for mains

Selectman Richard Trueba told the selectmen last night that he was taking a shower, at home, Tuesday, and the water turned orange. Not yellow, but orange.

There wasn't enough for orangeade, some was noted.

Trueba told the board that he was in favor of the hydrant flushing program, and he wanted it continued. He had received countless complaints about yellow water for baths, for drinking, and for laundry. He wanted the present flushing program continued.

Selectman Thomas Budrewicz agreed the program was important. He wanted, though, to discuss it with DPW head Phil Pattison.

Chairman Richard Morris agreed that everything was running smooth, when the flushing program was in progress. He would like to see about four men assigned to the job.

Selectman Bill Hallisey felt it was unfair to Pattison to emphasize the program. The DPW head, he said, had other projects with priority which should be completed before the winter sets in. He thought the selectmen should adhere to the program prepared for DPW employees.

The board voted to discuss the flushing program with Pattison, with a negative vote from Hallisey.

Hallisey discussed a clerical vacancy in the water department. He would like to see that vacancy filled as soon as possible.

Frigid temperatures in the town hall, Tuesday morning, was another subject for discussion. The thermometer in the hall was down in the forties, the selectmen agreed.

Chairman Morris noted one exception. In the collector's office, he said, the thermometer showed a torrid 78 degrees.

A pass to the Museum of Science

A family pass to the Museum of Science in Boston is something that is not to be lightly disregarded. A visit to that museum could cost as much as $8 per family.

The Harold J. Patton Library had such a pass a few years ago. It was constantly in use. Elisabeth Desmarais, librarian, says that 45 families visited the museum in one year using that pass.

This year the library acquired a pass to the Museum of Fine Arts, but again it has a pass to the Museum of Science.

The Friends of the Tewksbury

Library donated the pass, a few weeks ago. It cost the Friends $300.

The money was earned by selling a special cookbook, called Tasty Tewksbury Treats. The book contains many recipes donated by Tewksbury families, and sells for $3.

Three hundred were printed, and all were sold in five weeks. Some families bought five copies, to have as presents for friends.

The Friends have now ordered another 500 copies, of which 150 are already on order. They expect to sell the rest quickly.

Ahern honored

Francis Ahern of 9 Amos St., Tewksbury was among the 387 employees of the Raytheon Company who were scheduled to be honored in Boston last week.

A special awards dinner was held in their honor.

An afternoon with Shannon

Area residents have been extended an invitation to spend an afternoon with Jim Shannon Sunday, September 30.

Between 1:00 and 5:00 Sunday afternoon, Cong. Shannon will be on hand at the Elks Hall on Andover Street in Lawrence.

Other features of the day will be a fortune teller and a clown and the serving of soft drinks and coffee.

Openings in Tech adult classes

Openings still exist in a number of Monday and Wednesday evening classes at Shawheen Valley Technical High School. There are vacancies in the following areas:

Diesel, plumbing, registered electronics, accounting II, phototype, banking, sheet metal and advanced electrical. There are openings on all nights for physical fitness classes and G.E.D.

The fall semester will begin on Monday, October 1 and continue to January 8 from 7 to 10 p.m. Registration for the above classes will take place the first night of class.

Local sponsors for the Wilmington Pant, Pass and Kick competition are represented by (l to r) Bob Doucette, Wilmington Rotary Club; Ron Swasey, Wilmington Recreation Director; Jack Cushing, Wilmington Recreation Commission; and Mike Restuccia, Wilmington Ford.

The competition is scheduled for Saturday, September 29 at Rotary Park. Registration begins at 10 a.m. A rain date has been set for Monday, October 1 at the Town Park. Registration would begin at 6:30 p.m.

Both boys and girls are eligible to participate in the event. Age brackets are between eight and 13.

Memories of Merrimack Chemical

North Woburn chemicals cause concern for health

The Woburn Times, two weeks ago broke the story of the many chemicals, including arsenic to be found buried near the former site of the Merrimack Chemical Company in North Woburn. It was near those chemicals where, for many years, the bodies and hides of cattle had been buried, which over the past 10 years has been, it is believed, the source of the so-called Woburn Odor. Reading and Wilmington residents had complained of that odor for years.

There are many interesting developments, since that story in the Times, part of which appeared in the Town Crier.

The mayor of Woburn, for instance, declared on that same day that the only information he had was what he had read in the paper. He is to be believed.

Woburn members of the City Council attended the selectmen's meeting in Reading the following week, and for the first time the people of that town heard someone from Woburn talk as though there might be, after all, a Woburn Odor. The suggestion was made to those councilmen that perhaps, the city of Woburn should purchase the site of the old chemical plant.

The story brings back memories of North Woburn half a century or more ago.

How many of the Italian immigrants of the North Woburn area known as Little Italy worked in that chemical plant? The writer of course does not know, but one of them was the man who founded Brogna's Barber Shop, in North Woburn.

Mike, if memory serves correctly, was his name. He worked all day at Merrimack, and then in the evening he cut hair in his barber shop. Later, as he expanded his activities, Mike worked full time in the barber shop.

Mrs. Brogna still lives. The lady is said to be 92 years old, and is one of the oldest of the people who lived in Little Italy.

The Reading Chapter of the American Cancer Society has become involved. Many of the chemicals which had been buried in the area are said to be carcinogens.

Father Bruce Allen Young of the Trinity Episcopal Church of Woburn is asking for assistance, trying to locate children who may have lived in that part of Woburn during the past 15 years. He believes that leukemia may have developed in some of those children. He is trying to trace them.

Father Young has asked the Reading Chapter of the American Cancer Society to aid in the search. He has seen Woburn children who have been afflicted with leukemia brought into the Massachusetts General Hospital, and wonders how many more there are.

The parish office telephone number is 935-0219, if the reader should know any information that Father Young seeks.

Over half a century ago the writer's father had a contract to remove cinders from the boiler room of the old Merrimack Chemical.

Many can remember the huge smoke stack that rose over that plant. That smoke stack took care of the smoke from the boilers, and in those boilers was burned soft coal.

One result of the burning of soft coal, as it is called, is the generation of a gas, similar to that gas which is called City Gas. It burns, and is an excellent source of heat. Most of the heat furnished by these boilers came not directly from the soft coal, but instead by the gas which was generated and burned.

The net result, often was large lumps of coke. Coke, too, could be burned in the family furnace. Sometimes the writer's dad would bring home loads of those chemical company's ashes, and the writer got a job.

Every bucket of coke that was picked out of the ashes, and lugged into the cellar, was a bucket of coal that the writer's father would not have to buy, to keep the family warm that winter. An average family, in those days, used six to eight tons of hard coal per winter.

So the writer was promoted, unwillingly, to the position of chief coke picker. He received one cent, for each hodfull of coke that was carried to the coal bin in the cellar.

Perhaps never was money earned more unwillingly by a small boy.

Reading residents take dim view of Seabrook financing

By Maria Silvaggi
Reading Chronicle

When all was said and done almost all of the three hundred citizens who attended the Reading Municipal Light Board hearing on Seabrook at Parker Junior High School Monday evening indicated they did not support any more financial commitments by Reading to that project.

But they will not learn until 9 p.m. tonight (Wednesday) whether or not they persuaded the three commissioners of the Reading Municipal Light Board, John Crocker, Francis Doughty and Allen Ames, to forget Seabrook.

In an exceptionally well-moderated meeting RMLB Chairman John Crocker managed to grant as many of the thirty-seven citizens who requested it the opportunity to voice their opinions. The speakers represented a variety of interests and included Reading Town Meeting members and participants in local government.

Predictably all, except two speakers, took a dim view of the Seabrook project. The two primary reasons for that opposition: that it represented too much of a financial investment in what appears to be a shaky deal, and that alternatives to solving future energy needs, including developing new power sources and increasing conservation, have not been fully explored.

At the outset of the meeting it was plain that representatives from the Massachusetts Municipal Wholesale Electric Company (MMWEC) did not convince the crowd that Reading had to increase its power capacity by four percent per year over the next fifteen years, or that Seabrook was the most effective way to achieve that goal. The fact that "twenty municipalities within the State and twelve utilities outside it have decided to participate in Seabrook" failed to impress, as did a slide presentation that suggested Reading residents could be paying exorbitant energy rates within the next decade, particularly if oil is not replaced as the primary generating fuel.

RMLB Manager Norbert Rhinerson's more moderate projections and approach to the future needs of Reading also failed to mollify the consternation of the citizens, since it depended on an additional 25,000 KW from Seabrook.

Clearly the citizens fear the financial implications of participating further in Seabrook, and throughout the evening warned the MLB against it.

Leading the opposition, State Rep. Michael Barrett traced with machine-gun rapidity the history of the soaring costs of Seabrook. Barrett requested the RMLB postpone its decision until after the (Mass) Department of Public Utilities had interviewed the builders of Seabrook, Public Service Company of New Hampshire, which is reported to be trying to reduce its interest in Seabrook from fifty to twenty-eight percent.

Barrett also questioned the inconsistencies in MMWEC's projections of Reading's future power needs ("they projected twenty-nine megawatts in May, then forty-nine in August") indicating the change was a political move to make the purchase of the "twenty-nine look good."

Barrett continued, "The reason MMWEC officials mentioned no cost figures in their representation was because they can't tell you what Reading's share of the cost of Seabrook would be."

The six-minute rebuttals, first of MMWEC officials, then of Rep.

Barrett, proved, among other points, that MMWEC officials were sure Seabrook would be built "whether or not Public Service Company of New Hampshire folds," and in spite of costs that have risen "sevenfold"; while Barrett maintained energy conservation and Canadian hydroelectric power were viable but unexplored alternatives to Seabrook.

In the next one hundred minutes the citizens who had requested time to speak raised a variety of questions and issues. Chief among those was the lack of participation by Town Meeting in the decision facing the MLB.

Chairman Crocker explained he felt "the Board was capable of drawing conclusions (on the feelings of citizens) from the 300 citizens present."

MLB members Doughty and Ames indicated they felt the responsibility for the decision was their own and had to remain so.

Chairman Crocker also stated his board did not have enough information from MMWEC in May to present to Town Meeting, and had just received some requested information from that body at the beginning of September. He indicated MMWEC's time frame for decision making was not necessarily that of the RMLB.

Crocker also cautioned the citizens, "There are a lot of assumptions here. Please, don't interpret MMWEC's recommendation to us as what the Reading Municipal Light Board is going to do."

Pressed for more indication of his Board's intentions, Crocker announced the Board would "meet on Wednesday evening (tonight) to discuss the economic issues in executive session, but will take our votes in open session, and by 9 p.m. we'll have a decision for you." He also pleaded that interested groups send representatives to the hearing, since the board room is a "little 9 by 12 room."

Crocker did conduct an informal poll by show of hands to determine the feelings of the crowd about Seabrook, a survey he indicated he had intended for the conclusion of the meeting. Except for a handful of citizens, the gathering was wholly against Reading's participation in the Seabrook project on economic grounds.

Among the significant pieces of information to surface was that student members of the Harvard Graduate School of Design had offered free consulting services to Reading to explore avenues for increased conservation and more efficient energy use.

Several members of Reading town government expressed their feelings. School Committeeman Eugene Nigro presented an eloquent case for increased conservation; and Selectman Chairman Jim Sullivan expressed the dismay of his Board at the financial commitments.

In spite of the gravity of the topic, the mood was lightened several times, notably when Town Meeting member Richard Sullivan observed, "I have a feeling we're all rushing to board the Titanic."

Throughout the proceedings the three members of RMLB remained polite, and impassive, their feelings inscrutable, even when two citizens congratulated them for their vision and courage in considering Seabrook.

And when the meeting had adjourned they offered no indication that they had been influenced by the number of citizens who appeared to oppose the Seabrook project, or by the passion, rhetoric, and eloquence with which it was opposed.

Busy night for Miceli

State Rep. Jim Miceli had two different meetings he wanted to attend Monday night.

There was the Town Meeting in Wilmington, and there was a meeting having to do with the Seabrook nuclear generating plant, in Reading. The Reading meeting, which was expected to generate other than electricity, was to be for Reading speakers, but Miceli, being a state representative, had been assured he would have an opportunity.

Then the town meeting in Wilmington ran into quorum trouble. For the first time in some years there were not enough voters present to start the meeting. For one hour the voters waited, until a quorum had been rounded up.

Rep. Miceli perhaps could have gone to Reading and said his piece, and then returned to Wilmington in time to take part in that town meeting.

He did attend the Reading meeting, but was unable to speak.

McMillan buys school

Kevin McMillan of Wilmington was the high bidder recently at the auction of the old Lowell Street School in Reading. He purchased the property for $48,500. He isn't going into the education business. He plans to demolish the school, and build three houses on the land.

letter to the editor

Dear Sir:

On Monday evening, September 24, the Reading Municipal Light Board held a regular meeting, but open to Reading citizens for input regarding the possibility of an additional Seabrook purchase. There were 300 in attendance.

State Representative James R. Miceli was in attendance, but unfortunately could not address the gathering because of our commitment to a long list of Reading speakers who had made a prior request.

The board would like to thank Representative Miceli publicly for his interest and to let Wilmington citizens know of his efforts.

Sincerely:
The Reading Municipal
Light Board

College admission questions answered

Selecting the proper college or university oftentimes seems like a confusing and complicated process, both for high school seniors and their parents.

The questions are many and the answers vary from college to college. What is the right college or university for me? What major should I study for a particular career? How important are my SAT's with reference to my high school courses and class rank? Do my high school activities really count in the evaluation process? Is an interview necessary? What about scholarship and financial aid opportunities? When is the best time to apply?

Tewksbury Memorial High School has arranged to have these and other questions about college admissions and selection answered on Tuesday, October 2 on the Merrimack College campus in North Andover.

The 1979 N.E.A.C.A.C. College Fair, sponsored jointly for the second consecutive year by the New England Association of College Admissions Counselors and Merrimack College, will feature admissions officers from 190 New England public and private colleges and universities. The College

Fair will be held in the S. Peter Volpe Physical Education Center on the Merrimack College campus on Tuesday, October 2 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. and again from 7 to 9 p.m.

Both the day and evening sessions of the N.E.A.C.A.C. College Fair will afford high school seniors and their parents an excellent opportunity early in the school year to discuss their future educational and career plans with many New England college and university admissions officers. Students will also be able to learn about the variety of academic programs these institutions offer, admissions requirements and procedures and financial aid programs.

Last year's N.E.A.C.A.C. College Fair at Merrimack College was attended by 5,000 high school seniors, teachers, and guidance counselors during the morning session and 2,000 students and parents during the evening session.

The 1979 N.E.A.C.A.C. College Fair at Merrimack College will be one of 14 major regional college fairs sponsored by the New England Association of College Admissions Counselors and host-colleges and universities throughout the six New England states this fall.

Merrimack College is located in North Andover at the junction of Routes 114 and 125, 25 miles north of Boston.

The Tewksbury Guidance Department, on September 14 issued all pertinent materials to seniors in their homeroom period. If any parents have questions, they can call the Guidance Office at 851-3771.

Sunday School begins at St. Thomas

Religious education classes for grades three through seven begin at Wilmington High School on Saturday morning at 8:45 for the children of St. Thomas Parish.

Classes for grades one and two will begin next week in homes situated near the student's home.

All other classes are being formed and students will be notified when they are to begin, as soon as possible.

St. Thomas parishioners to attend Pope's Mass

Father Reynolds, new pastor of St. Thomas Church, has announced that two buses will be available to take parishioners into Boston to attend the Pope's Mass. Bus seats will be allocated on a first come, first served basis.

Please call Mrs. Smith by Thursday, September 27, at 658-5172, for bus reservations. Buses will be leaving St. Thomas' parking lot on October 1 at 10:30 and be boarded for the return trip at 7.

The buses have been assigned Prudential Center as the drop off and pick up location. The bus cost is $4.00.

Pack 56 registration October 1

Cub Scout Pack 56 will hold a Cub Scout registration and committee meeting Monday evening, October 1 at seven o'clock in the Congregational Church, Wilmington.

Families who have boys between the ages of eight and 10 or in the third grade are invited to attend.

Anyone wishing more information may call Evelyn Pierce at 658-3508.

Skidding accident

An accident between a Volkswagen and a Mack dump truck on Friday afternoon resulted in extensive damage to the car, and injuries to its driver. The accident occurred near the North Intermediate School in Wilmington at the corner of Ballardvale and Salem Streets. The Volkswagen skidded on wet pavement, and collided with the truck. The driver of the VW, Christopher Elton of Lowell, was taken to the Regional Health Center by the Wilmington Fire Department ambulance. Truck driver Bill Pare of Lawrence was not injured. The truck, owned by Frank Babicki of Andover sustained minor damage.

Motorcycle outing was no problem

Local officials were prepared for the worst on Sunday, but the group of 100 or so motorcyclists who converged on Wilmington for a Modified Motorcycle Association gathering presented no more problems than a Sunday School picnic.

Authorities here became alarmed after a similar gathering in Malden ended in an outbreak of violence that resulted in the killing of one motorcyclist and injury to others. It was feared that if reprisals were to occur, Sunday's gathering could be the target.

"As a precautionary measure" Police Chief Bobby Stewart called for standby assistance from 20 surrounding towns.

However, by early evening, most of the cyclists had dispersed and it was clear that no police intervention would be needed.

Sunday's event, a "poker run" which sent cyclists to several stations to receive playing cards, was the first such event held in Wilmington. The goal, of course, was to come up with a winning poker hand. It was sponsored by the Free Spirits, a cycle group which has its headquarters on Wildwood Street.

According to police Sergeant Don Mercier none of the stations were actually within town limits. Registration and refreshments were the only activities to actually take place in town, at the club headquarters.

The gathering was so well run, he said, that the police department had "not even one complaint."

For nature lovers
At least one Town Crier employee drives a vehicle bearing a bumper sticker reading 'caution, I brake for animals' - and birds, and turtles, and of course, people -

Tuesday morning during a journey from extreme south to extreme north Wilmington, that car braked three times - attention Frank Tuttle! For reasons known only to themselves, near the intersection of West and Woburn streets, a flock of at least 30 doves sat in the road; slightly further along at Jenks bridge, a muskrat waddled across the road, stop number two and still further north, two beautiful ring-necked pheasants stood with necks stretched also in the street - stop number three and as the vehicle waited - other necks stretched over the long grass at the roadside - 11 - honest!! 11 of those lovely pheasants scampered and flew across the road. The driver was 10 minutes late for an appointment - but it was, in the view of a nature lover - a beautiful morning!!!

Jaycee women to meet
The Tewksbury Chapter of Jaycee Women will hold its next regular meeting Monday, October 1 at eight o'clock at the Senior Drop-in Center. New members will be most welcome.

Bik-a-Thon
Joanne Tobey of Wilmington was among the bicycle participants in a recent Bik-a-Thon, first team project of the junior and senior high VolTeens of the New England Rehabilitation Hospital in Woburn.

Eighteen teens took part and all joined in a cook-out at the Rehab Hospital patio following the event.

Kathy Toolin, director of volunteers at the hospital reports that the bik-a-thon was a great success.

Second Lieutenant August R. Mancuso III, whose parents live at 31 Henry J. Drive, Tewksbury recently completed an infantry officer basic course at the U.S. Army Infantry School, Fort Benning, Georgia.

Busman's holiday?
Sheldon Maga of Oakdale Road, Wilmington, owner-operator of the Petticoat Junction Beauty Shop in North Wilmington just returned from a brief visit to his parents in Nova Scotia.

It seems that Sheldon could be accused of taking the proverbial 'busman's holiday' - he spent a portion of his vacation giving his mother and his aunt permanent waves.

Thomas Kane
Wilmington School Department employee Thomas Kane has been re-elected to serve on the Board of Directors of the Mystic Valley Council for Children.

Kane is a psychologist for Wilmington schools and this summer was presented a certificate of appreciation by the Council for his role in helping to establish the first emergency shelter for Mystic Valley adolescents.

The Executive Committee of the Board is formulating the annual work plan to organize Council activities for the coming year. The plan will be presented at the meeting of Tuesday, October 2 (7:30 p.m.) at the First Congregational Church, Winchester. Call June Austin, 729-4350 for more information.

Fall children's program at Wilmington Library

Fall programs for children have begun at Wilmington Memorial Library. Weekly afternoon feature films for school age children are being shown every Wednesday afternoon at 2:30.

The movie for September 26 will be the adventure from Greek mythology, "Jason and the Argonauts." The movie scheduled for October 3 is the popular musical "Oliver" based on Charles Dickens' novel Oliver Twist. A list of the feature films to be shown from now through November 14 is available at the children's room.

Reading aloud will begin again on Tuesday, October 2 and run through November 27. For these programs a different selection of stories will be read aloud each week so that those who may have to miss one will not miss part of a story.

Children's Room Assistant Susan MacDonald will be reading to children in grades K through two on Tuesdays from 3:30 to 4 p.m. Children's Librarian Mrs. Sarah Reuter will be reading to the older group - grade three and up on Tuesdays from 4 to 4:45.

Book talk, a weekly discussion group led by Mrs. Reuter for children 10 years old and older who like to read and talk about books and hear about good books they might like to read, will begin on Thursday, September 27 at 4 p.m. and will meet every Thursday thereafter for 45 minutes through November 29.

The preschool program will begin on September 27 with the first of four weekly film programs geared especially to three-to-five-year-olds. Films will be shown from 11 to 11:15 a.m. on Thursday and repeated on Friday mornings for those unable to be on hand Thursdays. The last of the films will be shown on Thursday and Friday, October 18 and 19.

Formal story hours for four-year-olds and five-year-olds who have not yet been to kindergarten will begin October 25 and 26 and continue for four weeks. Registration is necessary for the preschool story hours.

Christmas films: will be shown for preschoolers on Thursday and Friday December 13 and 14 and for older children on Wednesday, December 12.

Registration is necessary for preschool story hours as groups must be limited. There are sign up books at the desk in the children's room for Reading aloud and Book talk, but formal registration for these programs as well for all the film programs is not necessary.

For further information please call the library at 658-2867 and ask for the Children's Department.

All library programs are free

Melbank offers trips as prizes

Four weekend trips for two will be awarded the winners of a four-week sweepstakes at Melrose Savings Bank. Called "Keys to the City," these prize trips will give the winner air fare, hotel accommodations and a special event, for two people in either New York or Montreal.

"We are dramatizing Melrose Savings Bank services. They are so convenient, it's like having a key to the bank," explains Diane Puntoni, marketing coordinator. "So we're introducing the key theme by giving away keys to New York and Montreal."

Entry blanks will be available on request from bank personnel, without obligation.

During bank hours, demonstrations will be given of Melbank 24, the 24-hour automated teller which the bank pioneered in this area. Another Melrose Savings Bank first, Pay-by-Phone, will be demonstrated in an exhibit touring the five bank branches.

"We want this to be a lot of fun for people who come in," says Ms. Puntoni. "Our neighbors in Melrose, Reading, Stoneham and Wilmington have been very good to us over our years together. We hope we can return the favor with these prizes and special events."

The prize drawing will be held at the bank headquarters, 476 Main St., Melrose, on October 22. Melrose Savings Bank President, John Wood, will make the drawing to select winners.

Police notes

The Wilmington Police Department receives hundreds of complaints and requests for service every week. A highlight this week was the robbery of the North Wilmington branch of the Reading Cooperative Bank by three masked men who escaped with approximately $5000.

During the week officers arrested eight people on criminal charges ranging from drug and alcohol abuse to disturbing the peace.

School is back in session as indicated by the increase in malicious damage reports (11) both to schools and private property. Cruisers responded to 25 false burglar alarms at various business establishments and schools around town.

Other statistics include two burglaries and two attempts; eight larcenies, such as car batteries; three cars were stolen; seven accidents requiring police attention were reported and officers responded to four medical-related cases either to assist the fire department or to provide transportation to area hospitals.

Officers also reported and/or assisted at six fires and were dispatched to six disturbance calls.

Tip for the week: If you see something you feel is wrong, don't complain silently - call the police station and complain right out loud - report it!!! Please remember the emergency number is 658-3331 and the business phone is 658-5071.

'Ovation' to perform at Newcomers' meeting

A special folk rock performance by a group called "Ovation" will highlight the October 2 meeting of the Wilmington Newcomers' Club. The public is invited to attend the performance which is slated for 8 p.m. at the Wilmington Public Library.

"Ovation" is a group of three localities who have been playing together for more than a year. Maureen Sutton, Buddy Gleason and Larry Scott have drawn applause at a potpourri of stage bookings which include banquets, testimonials, a Boston Harbor cruise and the Wilmington Town Common.

Other plans for the Newcomers' Club include a September 27, 7:30 p.m. meeting of its arts and crafts group at the home of Mary Masse, 6 Cleveland Avenue. The featured craft will be sugar molds for cake decorating.

Luncheon is also being planned for October 4 at 12:30 p.m. at Shawheen Tech. Those interested in attending should contact the luncheon committee by October 1.

The Newcomers' Club is involved in plans for social for couples, card groups, pre-school playgroups and a babysitting co-op. For further information about any of the above activities, contact Diane Ferguson, club president, at 658-6837.

Compliments to the chef

Lena Abbott, 98 years old, being presented flowers by past president Fred Cain of the Rotary Club of Wakefield.

98 and going strong

Mrs. Lena Abbott is a Wakefield lady who has a business of catering lunches for Rotary clubs. She first started 58 years ago, catering for the weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club of Wakefield.

Lena, as she has been known for many years, soon expanded her business. She catered to Stoneham, to Reading and to Wilmington, four days a week. She was a busy lady.

She no longer caters to Reading. That club now conducts its weekly meetings in a restaurant. But, she is still catering to the three remaining clubs, every week. Last week happened to be her 98th birthday. She was on the job, as usual.

Past president Fred Cain presented flowers, for the club. Fred too, was carrying on a tradition. His daddy, the late State Representative, was for many years the Rotarian who presented gifts to Mrs. Abbott, for the Wilmington club in appreciation of her service.

New at the fire house

The Wilmington Fire Department received a new 500-gallon brush truck last week, an International, with six-wheel drive. Fire Fighter John Brown is the man jumping out of the truck.

Wilmington senior topics

Council meeting

The Council on Aging meeting will be held at the Drop-in Center, Monday evening, October 1, beginning at 7:00. Many subjects are discussed at these meetings that senior citizens should have a voice in.

Ed Gillis, legal advisor will be at the Drop-in Center on Wednesday morning starting at 11.

Exercise program

The Exercise Program on Monday mornings is held at the Knights of Columbus Hall from 11 to noon. Liz has designed new and exciting exercises this year to help keep seniors in tip-top condition.

Swimming

Swimming will be starting at Shawheen Tech on October 2 from 10 to 11 a.m. This is another excellent form of exercise for seniors.

Arts and crafts

The arts and crafts classes on Tuesday and Thursday are very active. The talent of these people is fascinating. The articles which are being completed are beautiful. The group meets on Tuesday and Thursday from 10 a.m. to noon.

Halloween party

The Council on Aging Halloween party will be held on October 25 from 1 to 5 p.m. at the Knights of Columbus Hall. Music will be supplied by Ernest Castonguay and his banjo. The meal will be a hot and cold buffet, consisting of hot meat balls, pork ribs and chicken wings, cold roast beef and ham potato salad, tossed salad, cheese and pickles, rolls and butter and coffee, tea and cake. A reservation must be made for this party and a $2.00 non-refundable deposit will be required. October 12 will be the last day for reservations for this party. Please sign up early.

Watch out

Elderly Affairs has sent out a warning to homeowners on a new cop game. This one is in regard to homeowners who get caught in a bid and cannot meet a mortgage payment. If one of these con-men hears about it, he will offer to purchase the property from you and rent it back to you. The family believing it to be only temporary accepts this agreement. Unfortunately the rent continues to increase and now they find out the original mortgage payment was smaller and they cannot meet the rental ones at all. As they miss more and more payments they are eventually evicted.

If you find yourself in a predicament that you cannot meet the mortgage payments on your property, it is wise to discuss this with the bank holding the mortgage. If the home is insured by Federal Housing Insurance, they might be able to stretch out your payments. Any further information you might need on this subject can be obtained from the Mass Consumers Council, 100 Cambridge St., Boston, Ma. 02202 or phone 272-2665.

Wilmington seniors' menu

Robarge, Woods power Wildcats

The high powered Wilmington High School football offense picked up right where it left off a year ago as coach John Ritchie's club scored two fourth quarter touchdowns to put away stubborn Lawrence Central Catholic 21-0 in a game played Sunday afternoon at Veterans Stadium in Lawrence.

Robarge who showed why he was All-MVC a year ago while tossing 12 touchdown passes.

Robarge connected with his favorite target Dave Woods for TD tosses of five and 13 yards while also running eight yards for another score.

Central, coming off a miserable season and with a new coach, played the Wildcats tough for three quarters

Wildcats

by Rick Cooke
Saturday the Byrd was the word as Tewksbury embarrassed Austin Prep 39-6 at the Cougars' field, running up a 33-0 halftime lead and letting a brigade of talented sophomores finish off the home club in the second half.

Bob Byrd, Tewksbury's junior fullback, scored three first half touchdowns via a 37 yard pass from junior quarterback Dennis Vecchi and runs of 27 and 20 yards.

Couple Byrd's banner day with a 65 yard punt return for a touchdown by sophomore Frank Fay in the second quarter and a super run by - you guessed it - another soph Bobby Leitch in the third quarter and it adds up to a rout that pushed Tewksbury's early season record to 2-0.

But everyone knew that Tewksbury would put points on the board. It's a rather raw defensive corps that has come fast, swarming and sticking people with a sense of where the ball is at.

Striker Mark Riddle actually sent the Cougars down for the count in the second quarter when on fourth and short and Austin making its only decent drive of the first half he chopped down 220 pound fullback Karl Wilson short of the first down.

Once Tewksbury had the lead the defense went no holds barred, with middle guard Bill Johnston attempting to drive his head through Cougar quarterback Bob Landry's sneering the signal caller's helmet high into the air and capping a hard hitting series with the Redmen holding that 33-0 bulge in the second quarter.

Tackles Rick Nunnery and Chris Ryan also got their defensive licks in as did linebacker Dan Billings and end Scott Tremlett.

Will Warriors unleash the real run and shoot?

by Rick Cooke
Tewksbury travels to Andover to face what so far this season appears to be a watered-down version of the run and shoot attack, while Wilmington may not even break a sweat when Austin Prep staggers into town Saturday.

Coach Bob Aylward's surprising Redmen, winners of their first two games over B.C. High (13-7) and Austin Prep (39-6), have always spent many extra hours preparing for coach Dick Collins' passing-gear run and shoot offense.

This season, either Collins, whom Aylward acknowledges as one of the top coaches in the area, feels he doesn't have the people at the skill positions to handle a varied offense or he's lying in the woods waiting to show Tewksbury his full hand.

The Golden Warriors are featuring less motion than in past years, going motion just 20 times in their two losses to start the season. Plus, when was the last time you saw an Andover team lose a 7-0 game, as it did to Dracut in the MVC lid-lifter for both teams Sunday?

Aylward has his team preparing for a typical Andover high-powered attack, but he is still asking himself why the semi-shutdown of the Golden Warrior offense.

"This is the most limited chart I've had on Andover since I've been here," offered Aylward Monday while Sophomore linebacker Rick Fentross also played well in the second half, coming in for some praise from head coach Bob Aylward.

Tewksbury's defense held Austin without a first down and minus yards in the first half. This performance comes after holding B.C. High to 86 yards in 38 carries for 2.3 yards a shot and Aylward likes what he has seen thus far. "If we can hold a team to 2.3 yards a carry statistically we should win," offered the coach.

"We used an eight man stunt on that fourth and short. We gambled and we went with it." The key to Tewksbury's stunting defense - a necessity due to Aylward having his smallest team ever at TMHS - is senior striker and co-captain Riddle. "He has a knack for the football and we're not afraid of him getting burnt because he drops well on pass coverage," said Aylward after the game.

"We worked very hard all week long trying to contain Landry in the pocket and stopping that curl pattern that they gained consistent yardage with against Lawrence," offered Aylward, who also was especially pleased by the work of many of the sophomores who cracked the lineup in the second half.

Oh, by the way Tewksbury has found a number of people who can catch the football. After suffering through a case of the drops last season and part of this pre season, Vecchi is spreading the ball around to a variety of receivers thus far.

"Vecchi was seven for seven Saturday with four different guys catching the ball," mentioned Aylward. Tommy Horgan, Dave Hanley and Mike Prescott each have three catches while Byrd and senior John Wolfe have latched on to two apiece.

The game itself was over early with Tewksbury's offense moving the ball almost at will throughout the first half. Senior Mark Weitz returned the opening kickoff 55 yards deep into Austin territory to set up the first score in the opening quarter as Byrd took a swing pass from Vecchi and covered 37 yards for the touchdown. The point after was missed.

The lead was stretched to 14-0 in the first quarter when Byrd dashed in from 27 yards. The two point conversion pass to Byrd was completed for a 14-0 Redmen bulge.

The rout was on in the second quarter with Byrd scoring his third touchdown on a 20 yard bolt up the Cougar gut, Wolfe making a nice over the shoulder grab for a 16 yard TD and Fay burying the home club with his 65 yard punt return, aided by some fine blocking down the sideline. Sophomore Charlie Santos added the point after and Tewksbury headed for the locker room with a 33-0 bulge.

lineup as both a fullback and in the slot and he's a tough kid according to Aylward.

He has, however been slowed by an injury he suffered two weeks ago in the Wakefield loss, but he played Sunday before coming out late in the game. Nardone is also Andover's punter with a better than 45 yard per kick average.

Despite Andover's unaccustomed slow start, Aylward and his charges aren't taking anything for granted. "Andover's not as varied as in the past, but you know Andover, they still scare the hell out of me," offered the TMHS mentor.

Tewksbury does have a defensive "weapon" that could counter any Andover passing attack. "This is the best defensive backfield as a unit we've ever had here," praised Aylward. That group includes Brian Foley, Dennis Vecchi, Dave Hanley, Doug Sheehan and striker Mark Riddle who has looked every bit like an all-conference player in the first two games.

That defensive backfield along with the rest of a defense that was supposedly green with inexperience will receive a major test Saturday if this Andover team even remotely resembles its predecessors.

Wilmington, coming off a 21-0 blanking of stubborn Central Catholic, should have little difficulty with an Austin Prep team that was sent into a first half stupor by Tewksbury's offense and several defensive stunts.

Tewksbury completely shut down Austin quarterback Bob Landry's curl patterns that had worked so well against Lawrence the previous week and fullback Karl Wilson, a Tewksbury resident, was popped hard a couple of times early in Saturday's rain-soaked game and just stopped running. Austin speedback Gerry White got off a couple of nice runs, but was stopped for the most part by Tewksbury's swarming defense.

But those are the three Prep people coach John Ritchie's boys should keep an eye on, for if Austin is to have any kind of a chance that trio will have to do the bulk of the damage.

The Cougars have good size, not bad running, but it's tough to evaluate any club when it is on the other end of a 33-0 halftime score.

Whatever, Wilmington should almost be able to do most anything it wants offensively to chalk up win number two. Tewksbury and Andover figures as one of the best MVC games Saturday with the Redmen a slight favorite if the defense can hold up its end.

In other games around the MVC Saturday, Billerica (1-0) is at Dracut (1-0), Lawrence (1-1) is at Chelmsford (1-0) and Methuen (0-1) is at Central

Shermahorn blanks Redmen 4-0

The Tewksbury soccer squad last week ran its record to 3-1-0 with a tough 2-1 victory over Methuen in an infrequent home game, and a 4-0 loss to Billerica. Saturday's game with Lawrence was postponed due to rain and has been rescheduled for Thursday, October 4 at Lawrence.

Tewksbury played Chelmsford at home on Tuesday, September 25, and travels to Lowell's South Common Field to play Lowell in a non-conference game Friday with a 3:30 p.m. start. Tuesday, Oct. 2, the Redmen play St. John's at the Tewksbury Junior High Field.

Billerica 4-Tewksbury 0
Billerica goalkeeper Gary Schermahorn put on a goalkeeper's clinic, as he, along with his sparked teammates, frustrated several golden Redmen chances and capitalized on several mental errors, to walk away with a 4-0 win to give the Redmen their first loss.

Schermahorn finished with 13 saves, half of a spectacular nature. During the first period he robbed forward Rick Catanzaro, when he deflected a ball heading for the upper right hand corner over the net. Minutes later, after making a sliding save of a low ground shot by midfielder Bob Dascoli, Schermahorn started Billerica on an offensive break with a deep punt into the Tewksbury end. Jim Murphy, one of Billerica's skilled midfielders, lifted a shot to Tewksbury goalkeeper Richard DeMaria's left, as DeMaria made an outstanding finger tip deflection over the endline. On the resulting corner kick, miscommunication allowed the ball to fall in where Darren Cowan slipped the ball into the net as the first half ended with Billerica up 1-0.

Billerica struck early in the third period when Murphy scored after dribbling through several Redmen defenders. Midway through the third period, the Indians upped the count to a 3-0 when Kevin Courtney took a long clearing pass in on DeMaria, beating Rich's sliding attempt to beat Courtney to the ball.

Trailing 3-0, the Redmen, making several line-up adjustments, pressured the Billerica defense for several minutes, as Schermahorn continued to make one super save after another. During a fourth period drive, the Redmen were stopped on a penalty kick, and then Schermahorn came out to take a shot from midfielder Ha-Sok Chun right off his foot to stop another golden opportunity.

Tewksbury outshot Billerica, 19-15, as DeMaria made seven saves for the Redmen to 13 saves by Schermahorn. The game was physical as the Indians received four yellow cards, and the Redmen one warning card.

Tewksbury 2-Methuen 1
The Methuen Rangers, defending champions of the MVC, and 9-0-3 over a two year period, came to Tewksbury on Tuesday, September 18. Tewksbury came out defensively and withstood some Methuen pressure for seven minutes. Waiting for the break, Tewksbury began to press midway through the first period, and finally took the lead, when Scott Patterson fed senior forward Rick Catanzaro a pass on the run, and Catanzaro converted as the goalie came out and cut down the angle.

The Redmen upped the score to 2-0 at 3:23 of the second period when after John Dunlevy's corner kick fell untouched 18-20 yards out in front of the net, senior tri-captain Bob Dascoli came blazing in from midfield to loft a shot into the upper left hand corner. Methuen proceeded to apply waves of pressure on the defending Redmen, and at 13:36 of period two cut the lead to one goal when they converted a misplayed ball with a scramble goal.

The second half went scoreless with the biggest play being a great defensive effort by fullback Ron Wallace who came out of nowhere to direct the ball away from the net with a sliding save. Tewksbury ruled the third period, while the Rangers owned the last 18 minutes, being frustrated by a tough Tewksbury defense. Tewksbury outshot Methuen 23-19, with DeMaria making 13 saves.

soccer team found its record at 2-2-0 at week's end, when they lost a heart-breaker to Methuen, 2-0, and defeated the Billerica jayvees, 4-3. In the Methuen game, Tewksbury dominated play, but couldn't put the ball in the net. They did manage to accidentally score the first goal for Methuen when a fullback tapped the ball by his own goalkeeper.

Robert Buser played an outstanding game for Bob Manzi's team. Against Billerica, the Junior Redmen scored three quick first period goals. Richard DiGiorgio scored from Jonathan Hague, while Scott Chappell headed in a rebound, and Billy Perrin continued his scoring streak with an unassisted goal. Billerica scored two third period goals, and Willie Byers took a nice feed from Steve Fink to tally the game winner early in the fourth period. Billerica scored as time ran out.

The Tewksbury jayvees played Chelmsford on Monday, September 24, and play their next game against St. John's at Tewksbury Junior High School, Monday, October 1.

Wildcats deadlock Indians

Wilmington held steady atop the MVC soccer pack with a 1-1 deadlock with Billerica Saturday and a 4-0 whitewashing of defending champ Methuen earlier in the week.

Wildcats 1-Billerica 1
Billerica, coming off a 4-0 blanking of Tewksbury Thursday, had all they could handle in the scrappy Wildcats as Jim Burns gave the locals a 1-0 second period lead with his fourth goal of the season. Mark Lanni assisted at 1:11.

Unfortunately Billerica's Kevin

Wildcats 4-Methuen 0
Steve Scanlon scored two goals, giving him four on the year, and junior goalie John Gagnon notched his second shutout as the Cats began the week with an impressive victory.

Jim Burns and Jim Crowley scored the other Wilmington goals with assists going to Burns (two), Alan Randall and John Protopoulos.

Wilmington outshot the defending champs, 12-3.

Intramural soccer

This is the final week to register for the Wilmington Recreation Department's eight week intramural soccer program. The program will begin this Saturday, September 29 at the Shawsheen School soccer field. Any boys or girls in grades one through six interested in joining this new league should call the Recreation Office at 658-6512.

Pop Warner football

Tough day for Tewksbury

It was a tough Sunday afternoon for Tewksbury's A and B Pop Warner teams with Billerica battling the A team to a 0-0 standoff and the B squad dropping a 12-0 decision.

Defense was the name of the game for the A' squad with coach Joe Petros' boys keeping Billerica bottled up in its own end for most of the game. Tewksbury's offense moved the ball well at times with the best running being done by Rich Rouse, Mike Ballou and Shawn Monahan. Quarterback Tom O'Brien also did his share of lugging Sunday.

In the B's loss a blocked punt recovered for a touchdown helped send Tewksbury to the defeat with Billerica notching an insurance score in the fourth quarter.

Tewksbury frosh roll, 21-0

Tewksbury's freshman football team rolled past Austin Prep 21-0 Friday as rookie coach Joe DeGrosso chalked up his first win. Tewksbury dominated the game both offensively and defensively and Mike Buscanera helped trigger the rout with a fumble recovery in the end zone for the first frosh score.

Jerry Giordano and Dan Sitar notched the other Tewksbury touchdowns with Charlie Healy booting three conversions.

Friday the team hosts Andover in a 3:30 start at the Junior High field.

Tewksbury banquet

The Tewksbury Men's Softball League banquet is set for Sunday night, October 7 from 7 p.m. to 1 a.m. at the K of C Hall on Main Street. There will be a dinner and entertainment provided by the band A Touch of Class.

Players will be admitted free of charge while guests can attend by purchasing a $9.00 ticket. Players can purchase guest tickets by contacting their representative managers or by calling Bill Blakeney at 851-2569

Youth Hockey

Wilmington Bl's top Wakefield, 4-1

In their first game of the new season, the Wilmington Bl's took on Wakefield and were defeated 4-1. Wakefield took an early lead in the first period, but Wilmington came back to tie as Tommy O'Reilly scored an unassisted goal on a low shot from the point. From here on Wakefield scored three unanswered goals.

Wilmington played a solid offensive game that was thwarted by excellent Wakefield goaltending.

Pee Wee B's top Tewksbury
Coaches Fred Stone and Jamie Boudreau's boys took on Tewksbury in their season opener and won 3-2.

At 4:43 of the first frame Jeff Brennan scored assisted by Steven Hunt to take a 1-0 lead.

Tewksbury later tied the score at 11:21 of the second period. It was 5:53 when John McLaughlin got the go-ahead goal with help from Chris Athanasia.

Again Tewksbury knotted the score at 9:16 before John McLaughlin picked up his second goal of the game assisted by Steve Zuccaro and Glenn Ford.

The defense of Robbie Palmer, David Marranzini and Danny Kane played well in front of goalies Ronny Longo and Billy Wolfe.

Dougie Mann scored five goals last week as he led his team to a 6-2 victory over the Somerville Mites. Neil MacNeil was credited with the sixth Tewksbury goal with the assists going to Keith Krugh and Mike Fiore. Keith Blum was in nets for the Mites and did a super job keeping the Somerville score down. Playing solid defense for Tewksbury were Keith Miles and Tommy Ventrill.

Squirt A's win opener
The Tewksbury Squirt A team won its season opener, beating Somerville 4-1 as Brian Mann scored a hat-trick with Ricky LeDuc adding one goal. LeDuc also earned two assists as did Robbie Hunt. Single assists went to Mann and Ricky Miles.

Goalie Dave Gammon did a fine job and was helped by the tight defense of Miles, Jerry DeLaney, Ron Crowe and Billy Erickson.

The Squirt A's won their second game in as many tries by pummeling Manchester, New Hampshire, 9-2.

Ricky LeDuc pumped home four goals while Kyle Favreau scored a pair. Single goals were notched by Brian Mann, Robbie Hunt and Derek Doherty. Ricky Miles, Hunt and Mann all handed out two assists each with LeDuc and Jim Breen earning solo helpers. Dave Gammon tended another tight goal for Tewksbury.

Somerville tops Bantam A's
The Tewksbury Bantam A team suffered a disappointing 7-4 loss to Somerville last week in their opening game of the season.

Entering the middle frame with a 1-0 deficit, the A's got on the boards with a goal by Boo Tremlett assisted by Al Mara and Wally Maguire. Fifty seconds later Somerville went ahead and just 11 seconds after that Tewksbury tied the game again on a goal by Bobby Fowler with assists to Glen Fougere and Timmy Kelly.

With one second left in the period Somerville scored again ending the frame 3-2.

The final frame started with two quick goals from Somerville. Tewksbury's third goal came from Willie Maguire with sharp passes from Al Mara and Terry Feran. Somerville scored again with Tewksbury soon following with its fourth goal, this one shot home by Tommy Carpenito from the great passing exchange between Mara and Feran. Somerville finished the scoring late in the third period.

Scott Nelson played well in goal for Tewksbury.

Cobligh shines for Tewksbury

Tewksbury's field hockey girls slipped to 0-2 in the MVC and 0-3 on the season last week with losses to Lawrence (2-1) and Billerica (3-1) while Wilmington remained in the thick of the early MVC race with an impressive 1-0 blanking of Chelmsford. It was Wilmington's second MVC win.

Billerica 3-Tewksbury 1
Goalie Joy Cobligh kept coach Bonnie Roberts' young team in this game with 23 saves and Pat Peters provided the lone Tewksbury goal assisted by Debbie Pollinger.

Jeanette and Andrea Gessner

Tewksbury's top gymnasts

Jeanette and Andrea Gessner, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Gessner, 533 Rogers Street, Tewksbury have had an outstanding season in gymnastics - so much so that their coach, Mrs. Claire MacDonald of Stage Door Studios, Inc. of Lawrence, has moved both girls to the United States Gymnastic Federation Class I level. This is the highest, or most advanced group before entering into elite or pre-Olympic training.

Jeanette, who has just turned 15, is a student at Tewksbury High School. According to her coach, Jeanette has gained statewide notice due to her grace and flexibility and is able to do a sideward walkover across the four inch width of the balance beam, a move done by only a very few gymnasts in the nation. She consistently won awards on all events in the Class II category while in the district qualifying A.A.U. meet, she placed first on floor, second on beam and bars and second all around, with only one-tenth of a point separating first and second place. In the New England A.A.U. finals, with no class breakdown, Jeanette placed sixth on floor, with a fifth on the balance beam.

In her biggest meet of the season - the Class II state championships - Jeanette placed second all around in optionals and seventh A.A. under combined compulsory and optional totals. She again placed first on floor exercises. She also qualified for the A.A.U. Junior Olympics, but did not compete due to another commitment.

Andrea, who is 11 years old, is not only an exceptional gymnast, but an exceptional skier. Unlike Jeanette, who gave up skiing to dedicate all of her time to gymnastics, Andrea has not yet made her decision between the two sports.

Andrea qualified for the Class II state gymnastic championships, but also qualified for the New Hampshire State ski team. This year, she chose to compete on the ski team. Since both seasons conflict, it is a very difficult decision for an 11-year-old to make. In spite of the difficulties, Andrea did an outstanding job in gymnastics, also winning several awards in high level competition.

Of the 60 competing gymnasts in the New England A.A.U. finals, Andrea placed fifth on the floor exercises. In the district qualifiers, having had no workouts due to her racing schedule, she placed fifth A.A. in her first meet of 1978-79, she qualified for N.E.A.A.U. championships, the Junior Olympics and Class II State championships.

Andrea is probably the strongest young gymnast that Stage Door has ever had. Without trying to influence her one way or the other, all of her coaches agree that she could probably be one of the finest gymnasts in the country if she decides to go in that direction, according to director Claire MacDonald.

Fun runs-Saturday, October 20

The Wilmington Recreation Department will sponsor three mile and 6.2 mile Fun Runs on Saturday, October 20 at 10:30 a.m. beginning at the Town Common.

The runs are open to everyone with no restrictions on age or residence. The emphasis will be on enjoyment and exercise at one's own pace.

There will be no trophies, no t-shirts, no awards, just a lot of fun and a little perspiration.

Universal exercise machine available
The Wilmington Recreation Department will sponsor a new community fitness program for high school students and adults utilizing the new universal exercise machine and exercise bicycles.

The use of this 16-station conditioning machine is being made possible through the cooperation of the school physical education department and the Wilmington Rotary Club which donated the machine.

The universal has stations for the following exercises: leg press, chest press, shoulder press, high lateral pull, quad and dead lift, chinling, dipping, hip flexor, abdominal conditioner, thigh and knee conditioner, back hyperextension and swimmers kick, rowing, wrist conditioner, neck conditioner, hand grip and real runner.

Professional educators, specially trained in the use and applicability of this machine will supervise and advise enrollees.

The program will run for 10 weeks in the fall with possible additions after the new year.

High school girls will be able to use the machine on Monday evenings from 7 to 8 while post-high school ladies should be on hand from 8:15 to 9:15. The program will run from October 15 to December 17.

High School boys will have their session on Wednesday evenings from 7 to 8 while the mens' class will be from 8:15 to 9:15.

Class size will be limited to 15 people and registration is by telephone at 658-6512. The cost is $10 per person for the 10-week introductory course.

Girls gymnastics
There are just a few openings in the Wilmington Recreation Department's fall girls gymnastics session.

This eight week program will be held at the high school gym on Wednesday evenings at 6:30 for intermediates and 7:30 for advanced gymnasts starting October 3.

Beginners' classes will be held at the High School gym on Saturdays starting October 6. Classes with openings are: 10:00-for pre schoolers ages four and five; 11:00 for pre schoolers ages four and five.

The cost is $10 per child. Anyone wishing to register for any of these classes should call the Wilmington Recreation Office at 658-6512.

Open swim begins
Family and adult open swim has started at the Shawheen Tech pool.

All Wilmington residents are welcome to use the swimming facilities each Sunday evening. Family swim is from 6 to 7:30 and adult open swim is set for 7:30 to 9.

The cost is 50 cents per person and is Tewksbury junior varsity at Austin Prep (3:30 games).

Ladies slimnastics set
All Wilmington ladies are invited to join in the Wilmington Recreation Department's exercise program held at the North Intermediate gym beginning Tuesday, October 2.

Liz Magee will again be leading the class. Liz has many new and innovative ideas to help make exercising enjoyable as well as rewarding.

Ladies will be amazed at what she will have them doing with tire tubes, bean bags, and other exercise equipment.

The program will run for 12 weeks with one class scheduled from 6:30 to 7:45 p.m. and another from 8 to 9:15 p.m.

The cost is $10 per person. To register, call the Recreation Office at 658-6512.

Yoga classes
The Wilmington Recreation Department's yoga program will be starting its fall session this Monday evening, October 1.

A beginners' class is scheduled for 6:30 and a continuing class for 8:15. The eight week program will be held at the V.F.W. Hall with instruction given by Barbara Gagel.

The cost is $10 per person. To register, call the Recreation Office at 658-6512.

Baton class to begin
Wilmington Recreation girls baton classes are set to begin this Saturday, September 29 at American Legion Hall.

Girls in grades K through 12 will be given instruction in baton twirling as well as marching during the 10 week session.

Class times are as follows: 10 a.m., advanced beginner, grades four, five and six; 11, advanced beginner grades one, two and three; 12 noon, beginner grades K, one and two; 1 p.m. grades seven through 12.

The cost is $10 per child. To register for any of the classes call the Recreation Office at 658-6512.

Volleyball team rolls

Tewksbury High School romped past Lawrence 15-0, 15-0 in MVC volleyball action Tuesday (Sept. 25) with senior Joanne Callahan leading the way with nine aces in the two game sweep.

Lisa Barbour came up with two nice blocks while Doreen Gacek and Diane Deveau also played well for coach Steve Catalano. The win improved Tewksbury's overall record to 3-2, 2-1 in the conference.

In the junior varsity game Kathy Leary and Nancy Johnson led the way in a 15-13, 15-12 sweep of Lawrence.

Monday in non-league action the varsity fell 15-4, 15-6 at Stoneham.
